GENERAL BASE BALL NEWS OF THE DAY

The Pittsburg club lost another game yesterday, making its eighth successive defeat. The Washington club is elated at its success, and attributes much of it to the presence of Secretary Jerry Rusk, whom they view in the light of a mascot.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAN TO THE DISPATCH.] WASHINGTON, July 17 .- "We are out of our 'teens now," yelled an enthusiastic bleacher at the close of to-day's game between the Washingtons and Pittsburgs, and Secretary Rusk, of the Agricultural Department, nodded his head as if in approval of the enthusiasm. Three straight from Pittsburg was more than the most sanguine admirer of the Senators dreamed of, and Uncle Jerry is considered to be the mascot who has cone the home team so much good recently, An error started the game, Rowe making a fumble of Hoy's grounder, and the demon of bad luck thus let loose seemed to pursue the visitors throughout the contest. Wilmot's fiv. to Hanlon was cared for in the most approved style, and on Daly's single over second base, Hoy trotted home. Wise went to first on balls, and Clark sent another man in by a double

One, two, three was the order for the visitors in the first inning, Hanlon giving Sweeny a foul, which Rowe duplicated a few minutes later in Wilmot's direction, and Beckley struck out. Mack opened the second inning with a double between third and short and on asimilar crack by Sweeny the tall Senator walked home. The next three strikers, however, went out in regular order, leaving Sweeny at third base. White's fly to Sweeny was muffed, and Fields took first on called balls. Mani struck out and Dunlap sent a fly to Clark at short, who pluckily held on to it and effected a double play, unassisted, also retiring White, who had started for the third bag. Daly was given first on balls, but Garfield caught him napping. Wise hit safely over second, and stole another base by Beckley found a ball that just hummed over second bag and Hanion and Rowe cantered across the home plate. White stopped further progress by being thrown out at first by Keefe. Ciphers were in order up to the sixth-inning, when with two out, Sweeney was hit by Garfield and sent to first. Keefe hit safely and Hoy drove both men home on a triple to left field, and on Smith's muff of Wilmot's fly the mute center fielder also tallied. Beckley flew out to Wilmot, and White was sent to first in this inning by Mack's muff of his fly. After Field's had advanced the Deacon to second on a single, a double play off Maul's grounder nipped all hope of a run.

In the seventh Pittsburg made what proved to be

THEIR FINAL TALLIES. Duniap going to first on called balls, Smith advanced his captain a base on a sacrifice and Garfield struck out. Hanlon came to the resone with a timely single over third, and Clark fell down and rolled over and over with a grounder that Rowe sent in his direction. Beckley sized Keefe up for a clipper over second, and Duniap and Hanlon came home without rouble. Sweeny was given first on balls, but it availed him little, as Garfield caught him too far off first base and easily disposed of him. Keefe also went to first on called balls, and on a wild throw by Fields he scampered to third, where he remained, the next two strikers proving easy victims to Fields. Three runs were added by the Senators in their share of the last inning, this result in their share of the last inning, this result being contributed to materially by Hanlon dropping two flies in his territory, a fumble by Rowe, and a single by Clark. Suith took first on four bad balls, but Garfield sent a grounder to Clark and another double play was the out-come of the experiment. Haulon gave the

KING AND LATHAM WATCHED.

They Are Charged With Crookedness and Detective is on the Alert. Sr. Louis, July 17.-King and Latham are in trouble. They are charged with throwin cited that in a game against the Athletic a well-known sport was backing the Athletics heavily. King's pitching was so execrable that he was taken out and Stivitts substithat he was taken out and Stivitts substi-tuted. At that point, although the Athletics were ahead, the sport commenced hedging and gave odds to get his money protected. The Browns won by a score of 12 to 12. The charges looked so badly that President Von der Ahe put the matter in the hands of a detective agency, and notified King and Latham of the charges against them. They both deny the rumored crookedness, and are very indignant over it. President Von der Ahe states that if found guilty the pair will forever be prohibited from playing ball.

J. Jacobs and ex-Senator Sommerville, while Captain B. B. Dovener, J. D. Ewing and Colonel W. W. Arnett were for the defense. Tes-timony was taken as to the facts in the first arrest by Justice Phillips, under which the ball players are already under bail to answer before the grand jury, the object being to show the first arrest, and the bond in pursuance the first arrest, and the bond in pursuance thereof, barred the second arrest by Justice Arkle, on the ground that as there was but one game of ball in progress there was but one offense, if any at all pinder the statute. It was further claimed by the defense—first, that no offense had been committed under the law; second, that if there was such offense, the players were not liable, being legally servants of the management; third, that the arrests were not legally made on Sunday, and fourth, that the proceedings were illegal in themselves for the reason that it had been a prearranged proceeding.

BALTIMORE, July 17 .- Jake Kilrain, the pugilist, who arrived in Baltimore yesterday afternoon, has entirely recovered from the effects of his battle with Sullivan, and looks in even better condition than on the day he left Baltimore for the fighting grounds. He does not show a mark of any kind. In speaking about the great fight, Kilrain said squarely that he was whipped, but thought that he was largely the victim of circumstances. When asked directly if he thought he had been drugged, he said: "No: I don't think I was drugged. If I had been I couldn't have stayed as long as I did."

Johnny Murphy, when asked the same que tion, answered mysteriously that there was something wrong, but that for the present his tongue was tied, though when the time came he "What have you got to say about Mitchell? the reporter asked.
"Well, he was not very attentive, to say the least," was the reply.

"The fact, though, that I was knocked down repeatedly, but not knocked out, shows that Sullivan's terrible blows didn't have the power some people suppose they did. I could have stood up longer, but Donovan threw up the sponge in excitement, being afraid I would get killed. My blows for some reason or other did not seem too have any force. My arms seemed numb, but what was the matter I don't for the life of me know. The sun there had a terrible effect on me, My back was one big blister after the fight. John L. NEW YORK, July 17 .- William Muldoon pubishes this morning a card in which he says:
"I have just read an article in this morning's papers which is unjust and untrue, and is evidently done by some malicious person with the intention of making trouble between Sullivan and myself. I have always been and still am his friend. Our close companionship while training has only strengthened our friendship. I want it understood that I am John L. Sulli

I want it understood that I am Jobn L. Sullivan's friend, and possess too much manhood to co behind his back to complain of any grievances. We are both men, and any trouble we may have we will settle face to face and will not go whining to friends or to the public. We parted the best of friends, and we entertain today the warmest friendship for each other. I know that he entertains the deepest love for his parents, brother and sister. He is kindhearted and generous to a fault. I am positive that he fully appreciates what has been done for him by his backers and trainers. He has in Charlie Johnson, of Brooklyn, whose name is used in my alleged interview, a true friend, and one whose friendship and generosity cannot be equaled. This is what I have to say about Sullivan, Johnson and myself. Our treatment by the Southern people, especially in New Orleans, was very generous, courteous and kind, and I would like the friends of Mr. Sullivan all over the country to extend their heartiest thanks to the Young Men's Gymnastic Club and the representatives or the daily press of New Orleans; also to Pat Duffy, who was untiring in his efforts to see that we were properly cared for and made as comfortable as possible. wite secured the divorce, and she returned to the home of her father, Mr. Adams D. Hawthorne, in Danbury. Mr. Turner married the woman who had won his affections from his wife. Two weeks ago last Saturday he was remarried to his first wife. The Rev. Adolph Gumbart, pastor of the German Baptist Church of Greenpoint, performed the ceremony at his residence. The witnesses to the ceremony were Mrs. Welty and Mrs. Morris, a sister of Mrs. Turner.

A friend of the family acquainted with the story of the second marriage said to-day that Mr. and Mrs. Turner lived happily for 20 years before the trouble came which brought separation and divorce. "For ten years," he said, "Mrs. Turner heard nothing from her divorced husband. A month or so ago she received a newspaper containing a marked death notice. This was followed by a letter from Mr. Turner. The letter was answered, and the marriage the other night was the sequel." Mr. and Mrs. Turner have returned to Cleveland.

Who Puts on the Gloves-A Kilrain of the Same Stripe.

The average Italian may not be credited with an over abundance of brains, but he certainly has a great head for making money. Banana? No; not this time-some thing new. One of them-an Italian, not a banana-was promenading the streets the other day with a box turned up edge-ways and fasted to a pair of wheels. He stopped on Court street near the square, opened a little trap in the side, and out leaped two little monkeys. The Italian busied himself with the box, and a crowd soon gathered to see what was to be seen. Presently the Italian yanked the monkeys up on the box by the chains which were fastened to them, and then introduced them to the audience as "John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain." He then told Jake to "put on his coat," but Jake couldn't understand English, so he didn't obey. A few words English, so he didn't obey. A few words in Italian, however, and Jake got into that cont as quickly and in the same manner as an ordinary human being would. He was ordered to take it off, as the "great prizefight was to take place and no fighter could fight with his coat on."

Jake took his coat off, and the Italian produced a set of miniature boxing gloves. He slipped a pair on each animal's front paws. The crowd had been so interested that it forgot to wonder how the Italian was going to make any money out of this, was going to make any money out of this, but it was soon brought to its senses by the Italian announcing that the great fight was Italian announcing that the great fight was ready to proceed after the gate receipts were collected. He passed the cup around, got it pretty well filled, and then ordered the fight to go on. The monkeys stood on their hind legs and danced around, while they dashed both gloves at the same time at each other's face. Kilrain fell frequently to "avoid punishment." The referee spurred him on by shouting at him, but it was of no use. John L. succeeded in laying out his victim. Both were placed in the box and the Italian then moved on.

SHE LOST ON TOT. An Excited Lady Bets Ten to One on a Horse

That Doesn't Win.

Philadelphia North American.] In the second heat the excitement high. Lots of money was bet on the bay mare, and nearly everyone felt sure that she would win. It was recognized, though, that in Wilkes and Tippie she had oppo-nents not to be sneezed at. Everyone in the grand stand was wild. A pretty young woman in a "Charley" hat leaped excitedly to her feet, upsetting a plate of ice cream in her sudden move.

"Ten to one on Tot," she cried, waving a "Take you up," yelled back a smooth-faced young fellow, diving into his pocket. Somewhat abashed, the girl sank back into her seat. "Bet him, Kittie," whispered

Kittie timidly shoved out her money. It was covered.

"Go!" shouted the judges.

Away went the horses, but in rather bad order. Tot spurted to the lead, and at the quarter was about two lengths ahead. The quarter was about two lengths ahead. The pretty mare settled hard to work, and when the half-mile post was reached the King was making a hard effort to gain the lead. But at the three-quarter post King went all to pieces. Down the homestretch the horses sped. When within 50 yards of the wire Tot went up badly, and Wilkes won by less than three learths. than three lengths,

THE FLIGHT OF INSECTS. In Insect as Large as a Horse Would Fly as Fast as a Cannon Ball.

St. James Gazette. The same writer supplies instances of the high speed attained by insects in their flight, many of them being able to outstrip swift birds. It has been computed that the common house fly, in ordinary flight, makes 600 strokes per second, and advances 25 feet; but that rate of speed, if the insect be alarmed, may be increased six or seven fold, so that under certain circumstances it can outstrip the fleetest race horse. It is no uncommon thing to see a bee or wasp endeavoring to get in at the window of a railway train in full speed, and it is calculated that if a small insect can fly faster than a race horse can run, an insect as large as a horse would be able to travel as fast as a cannon

Leunwenholk relates an exciting chase, which he beheld in a menagerie, about 100 feet long, between a swallow and a dragonfly-among the swiftest of insects. The in-sect flew with incredible speed and wheeled with such address that the swallow, in spite of its utmost efforts, completely failed to overtake and capture it. A pigeon fancier of Hamme, in Westphalia, recently made a wager that a dozen bees liberated three miles wager that a dozen bees liberated three miles from their hive would reach it in better time than a dozen pigeons would reach their cote from the same distance. The competitors were given wing at Rhyheru, a village nearly a league from Hamme, and the first bee reached home a quarter of a minute in advance of the first pigeon. Three other bees reached the goal before the second pigeon, the main body of both detachments finishing almost simultaneously an instant or two later. The bees, it may be mentioned, had been handicapped in the race, having been rolled in flour before starting for purposes of identification. According to Cha-

CHINA IS A DEMOCRACY. Any Attempt by the Emperor to Resist the People Would Cause a Revolution. onsul Smithers in Wilmington News,] The Chinese are among the shrewdest people in the world. They are peculiar in our estimation. Their civilization is an old one and its customs and and rules are very rigid. They are a well-educated peoplecan ask and answer the most difficult questions. ' Their system ot education is largely a cultivation of the power of memory and is more in the acceptance of what wise men have thought and said than in investigation and demonstration. They are a very persistent people. I have known old men who have spent a lifetime in study and examinations for the rank of a man-darin. Several old men were given degrees while I was in China simply because they had been striving and waiting so long. The Chinamen who come to this country are not recognized in their native land as the true Chinamen. They are coolies, and by true Chinamen are called foreigners.

Just before I came away one of the greatest of Chinese statesmen sent for me and said: "I want to talk to you about this question of the expulsion of the Chinese from America." I could not talk with him in any official capacity, but as an individual I had a long conference with him on the subject. The difficulty has been in the abrogation of treaty rights. They do not understand the situation. When I made the minister understand the labor side of the issue by calling to his attention the fact that railroads and labor-saving machinery were excluded from China by the populace for the same reason that Chinese coolies are excluded from America, he admitted the force of the argument and replied: "Your arguhad been striving and waiting so long. The of the argument and replied: "Your argument is very good."

In one sense the Chinese Government is a tyranny, but in others it is the most absolute democracy of which I have any knowledge. The Government would be overthrown at once if it attempted to oppose the will of the people at large.
